UI / UX DESIGNER

HUMAN-CENTERED | ACCESSIBLE | DETAIL-DRIVEN

ABOUT ME

I'm a UI/UX Designer who enjoys turning complex, everyday problems into simple, human-centered digital experiences. My work is rooted in user research and accessibility — designing products that are easy to use for everyone, including elderly users, non-native speakers, and people who need extra care. I like solving real problems through thoughtful, detail-driven design.

MEDICARE APPLICATION

MOBILE HEALTHCARE APP — CASE STUDY

A hyper-accessible, mobile-first healthcare application designed for diverse demographics — elderly users, non-English speakers, and chronic care patients — through rigorous user research, systematic problem analysis, and human-centered design principles.

Emergency SOS

1

Engineered a prominent 1-tap Emergency SOS button with a high-priority user flow that instantly dispatches critical prescription medication via the nearest partner pharmacy while simultaneously broadcasting the patient's GPS coordinates to local emergency services.

Localized, Accessible UI

2

Designed a flexible, localized UI framework supporting multiple regional languages with voice-assisted onboarding screens and icon-based navigation to aid non-literate and non-English-speaking users — applying advanced information architecture and accessibility principles.

Family Alert Ecosystem

3

Formulated an automated Family Alert Ecosystem that intelligently triggers SMS and push notifications to designated family members when a patient misses a dose or ignores a medicine finishing alert, preventing dangerous gaps in critical medication management.

Smart Prescription Scanner

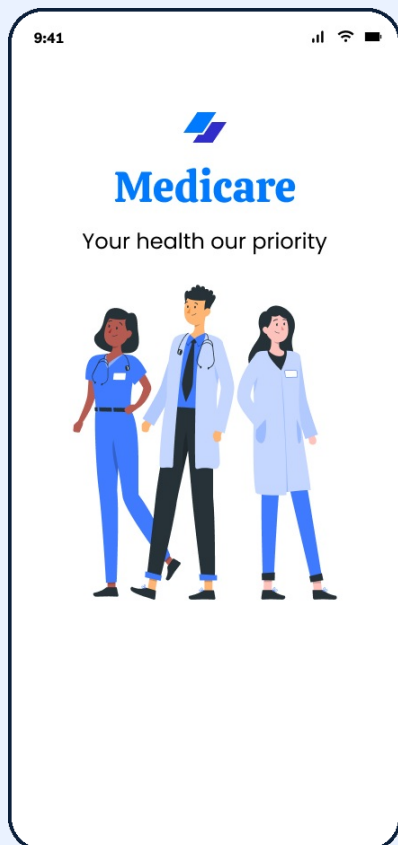

4

Created a Smart Prescription Scanner interface using AI-bounding box overlays, enabling users to photograph handwritten prescriptions and receive instant text verification of cart items, reducing manual entry errors significantly.

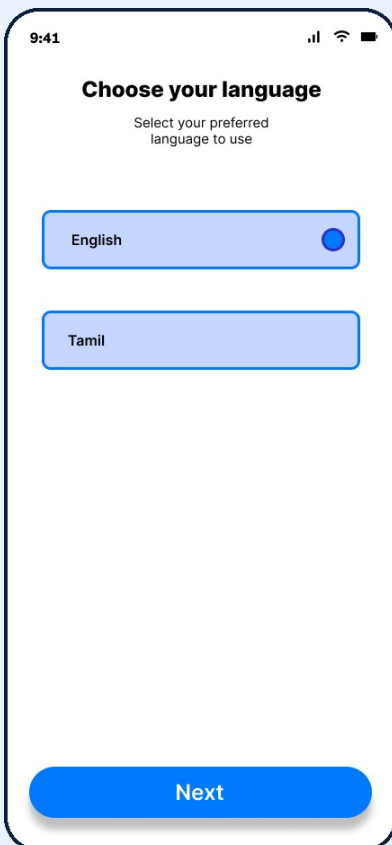

End-to-End UX Research

5

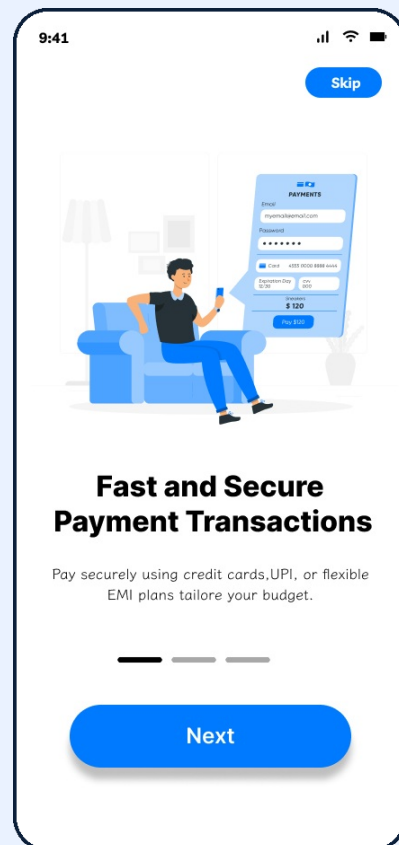

Conducted comprehensive end-to-end UX research including user persona creation, empathy mapping, and usability testing to inform every design decision.
